

Procurement

Hutchies is committed to ethical purchasing processes, community engagement and quality outputs in the delivery of exceptional construction services.

We seek to build on a range of broadly established social policies that enable our procurement practices to effectively contribute to building stronger communities.

We demonstrate this through:

- Compliance with relevant laws, regulations, contract requirements and procurement processes outlined in our Quality Management System
- Promoting opportunities for social enterprises where possible in our supply chain
- Encouraging training and skills development throughout our supply chain
- Conducting business in a respectful, lawful and fair manner
- Achieving value for money, products and services that are fit for purpose and or the required quality objectives
- Engaging with reliable and reputable suppliers
- Providing adequate resources to achieve the objectives of this policy
- Encouraging businesses who operate with Hutchies to uphold a high standard of conduct in line with our policy

As a fifth generation family business, Hutchies is built on the foundations of integrity and respect. This is reflected in our Procurement Policy and Code of Conduct Policy, which together form the basis of purchasing activities for Hutchies, and must be adhered to by everyone working with or representing Hutchies.
