Hutchies is committed to providing and maintaining a safe and healthy workplace for all workers, contractors, clients, visitors and members of the public.

To achieve this, we:

- Have defined health and safety objectives that align with the strategic direction of the business
- Follow legal and other requirements relating to health and safety
- Remove or reduce hazards and risks as far as reasonably practicable
- Provide information and training to enable safe work
- Supervise workers to ensure activities are performed safely
- Consult with and involve workers on matters of health, safety and wellbeing
- Provide a suitable injury management and return to work program
- Monitor safety performance, review and continually improve the health and safety management system

As Australia's largest privately owned construction company, we understand the unique risks in our industry. We work to eliminate or minimise risks to health and safety wherever possible.

Keeping people safe, whether they work with us or are affected by our projects is our top priority. We aim to create a work environment free from injury or illness.

Everyone on our projects must take care of their own safety, follow safety practices and abide by the site rules to help protect themselves and others.
